MEDITERRANEAN ISLAND WINES

From Corsica and Sardinia to Sicily, Santorini and beyond, the islands of the Mediterranean produce wines shaped by sun, salt air, and rugged terrain. Each island tells its own story—volcanic soils, ancient vines, native grapes—yet they share a common thread: bright acidity, coastal minerality, and a spirit that reflects life by the sea. These are wines of place, tradition, and timeless Mediterranean character.

Corsica

Corsica, birthplace of Napoleon, is a wild, mountainous island surrounded by the Mediterranean Sea—and its wines reflect that bold coastal spirit. Native grapes like Niellucciu (a cousin of Sangiovese) and Vermentinu thrive in windswept vineyards perched above the sea, producing wines that are savory, mineral, and laced with wild herbs of the maquis. Influenced by both French precision and Italian soul, Corsican wines offer a pure, untamed taste of the Mediterranean coast.

Vermentinu, Antoine Arena ‘Carco Blanc,’ Patrimonio, 2022 85
Vibrant white, citrus and herbal notes, reflecting the limestone-rich soils.
WINEMAKER — ANTOINE ARENA

Grenache, Yves Leccia Rouge, Île de Beauté, 2022 75
Bright and savory, with wild strawberry, black pepper, and herbs. Mineral finish.
WINEMAKER — YVES LECCIA

Niellucciu (Sangiovese), Domaine Giudicelli Rouge, Patrimonio, 2018 105
Elegant and structured, with black cherry, dried herbs, and earthy spice. Silky tannins and an iron-tinged finish.
WINEMAKER — MURIEL GIUDICELLI

Sardinia

Sardinia’s terroir is defined by granite soils, strong coastal winds, and intense Mediterranean sun. These elements, along with high elevation and cool nights, create ideal conditions for low-yield, high-flavor wines. The island’s isolation has preserved unique grapes like Cannonau, Vermentino, and Carignano, producing wines with salty minerality and wild herbal notes. Deeply rooted in tradition, Sardinian wines reflect the rugged, maritime landscape and centuries of hands-off winemaking.

Vermentino, Vigne Surrau ‘Sciala’, Gallura, 2022 55
Zesty and textured, with white peach, citrus peel, and crushed stone.
A salty, elegant coastal white reminiscent of Albariño.
WINEMAKER — VIGNE SURRAU

Cannonau (Grenache) Blend, Deperu Holler ‘Oberaia’, Isola dei Nuraghi, 2023 70
Lively and rustic, with wild berry, fig, and Sardinian herbs. Bright acidity, dusty tannins, and a pure island finish.
WINEMAKER — ENRICO DEPERU & LAURA HOLLER

Cannonau (Grenache), Giovanni Montisci ‘Barrosu,’ Cannonau di Sardegna, 2023 140
Old-vined, powerful and perfumed, with ripe cherry, blood orange, and rose petals. Dense and structured—like a riper Barolo.
WINEMAKER — GIOVANNI MONTISCI

Sicily

The largest island in the Mediterranean, Sicily is a land of sun, sea, and smoking volcanoes—most notably Mount Etna. Its wines are shaped by this dramatic landscape, where ancient vines grow in volcanic ash and coastal breezes cool sun-drenched vineyards. Native grapes like Nero d’Avola, Nerello Mascalese, and Carricante thrive here, producing wines that balance power and elegance—a vibrant, earthy expression of the island’s complex soul.

Grillo, Feudo Montoni ‘Della Timpa’, Central Highlands, 2024 65
Zesty and floral, with lemon peel, white almond, and saline minerality.
Aged in cement on the lees for texture and freshness.
WINEMAKER — FABIO SIRECI

Carricante, Vigneti Vecchio ‘Sciare Vive’ Blanco, Etna, 2020 75
Lean and electric, with crushed stone, citrus pith, and green herbs.
Volcanic soils and altitude lend Riesling-like precision.
WINEMAKER — CARMELO VECCHIO & ROSA LA GUZZA

Nerello Cappuccio, Benanti, Terra Sicilian IGT, 2021 70
Lush and lifted, showing blueberry, violet, and crushed peppercorn.
Round and floral, with soft, supple tannins.
WINEMAKER — ANTONIO BENANTI

Nero d’Avola, Feudo Montoni ‘Vrucara’, Cammarata, 2019 130
Dark-fruited and brooding, with black cherry, tobacco leaf, and dried herbs.
From un-grafted vines planted in 1860.
WINEMAKER — FABIO SIRECI

Nerello Mascalese, Vigneti Vecchio ‘Sciare Vive’ Rosso, Etna, 2021 105
Elegant and smoky, with cranberry, orange zest, and volcanic ash.
Light yet layered—Etna’s answer to Pinot Noir.
WINEMAKER — CARMELO VECCHIO & ROSA LA GUZZA

Eastern Mediterranean Islands

From Greece and Cyprus to Croatia and beyond, the islands of the Eastern Mediterranean produce wines shaped by sun, sea, and stone. Volcanic and limestone soils give them bright acidity and minerality, while native grapes like Assyrtiko, Pošip, and Xinomavro bring freshness and depth. These wines reflect centuries of tradition, crafted with a modern touch and a true taste of the coast.

Pošip, Zlatan Otok, Dalmatian Coast, Island of Hvar, Croatia, 2024 75
Bright and structured, with stone fruit, citrus, and island minerality.
WINEMAKER — ZLATAN OTOK

Assyrtiko, Domaine Sigalas, Santorini, Greece, 2024 105
Lemon zest, flint, and sea air, with razor-sharp acidity.
WINEMAKER — PARIS SIGALAS

Cabernet Franc, Makarounas ‘En Arhi’, Cyprus, 2021 85
Lively and balanced, with red fruit, soft texture, and fresh acidity.
WINEMAKER — THEODOROS MAKAROUNAS

Syrah / Merlot / Xinomavro, Alpha Estate ‘S.M.X.’, Northern Greece, 2021 105
Dark berry fruit, peppercorn, and subtle oak; full-bodied and structured.
WINEMAKER — ANGELOS IATRIDIS

Xinomavro / Syrah, Kir-Yianni ‘Diaporos Single Block #5’, Naoussa, 2021 125
Strawberry, violet, and spice, with warmth and depth.
WINEMAKER — THEODOROS MAKAROUNAS

A HERITAGE ROAST WITH ITALIAN SOUL

Our coffee is roasted by Mr. Espresso, a family-run roaster from Oakland with deep Italian roots. Founded by an immigrant from Naples, they brought the art of true Italian espresso to the West Coast—slow-roasted over oak wood for a distinct, caramel depth. It's tradition, perfected over decades, and the kind of craftsmanship we connect with deeply at Pinyon.
